This collection of devotions includes 100 diverse and respected leaders from Christian churches, colleges and organizations. They share scripture and reflections in a brief, easy to read format to give your day a fresh start.

They include a wide range of topics such as;

- enduring hard times, sorrow, depression
- forgiving others and yourself
- having a thankful attitude
- being courageous
- waiting on God
- importance of God's word
- giving up the need for control
- God given purpose

Each devotion begins with a scripture verse. These are great to take and look up in other versions of the Word if you want a deeper study. Also a great place to work on scripture memorization.

The author then shares from their experience a short story, or experience that goes along with the scripture. This would be a beautiful gift for anyone this holiday season! I enjoy having devotions like these sitting around my home to reach for when I have few extra minutes. It isn't an indepth study, but a food for thought to bring your mind back centered on Christ.

This is a great collection of authors and a very nicely done devotional.

Yes there are many devotional aids on the market but this is written for everyone living in the 21st Century. The inspirational writing covers all aspects of modern life and that there is an answer to your problem in the Bible.

The world may have changed since the word was spread around the world by the early Christians, and that it doesn't matter how the world has changed there is an answer written down thousands of years before. This is a wonderful aid for any Christian whether you hold a strong faith or being challenged this book will life you.

Good daily reminders that I'm never alone.

Insightful and encouraging, I started this book several years ago, and still continue to pull it out often to flip through and re-read some of the daily devotions. Perfect for women who walk closely with Christ.
