Dylan Murphy says

So, things are really starting to move towards the end now, even though we are only roughly half way through the series!

I am absolutely LOVING Renton and Eureka's chemistry, and how their romance is portrayed. It is definitely one of my favourite manga couples, but not nearly on par with say Saeko and Takashi from HOTD.

My romance obsessions aside, I am still loving the art, though the "Coralian" or whatever they are called disappoint me. It's not that they are bad antagonist/environmental forces, I just don't like their visual portraiture. A giant eye-ball or two, or 50 I can handle, I am a Chaos fan. However they are ALL eye-balls from what I have seen thus far, and it leaves something to be desired for me.

I think this series' strongest point(besides artwork) is the characters. They all feel subtly different from the anime, but most of them feel like real people!(Definitely a group I would like to meet!)

Y de repente, cambia drásticamente el tono de la historia, y de ser sencilla y simple se intenta volver oscura y medianamente filosófica. La verdad es que no les viene mal a los personajes el cambio de estilo y la historia se vuelve mucho más interesante con algunas escenas retorcidas interesantes.
