A Quickie Review

A bit more startling than it was in the anime--especially the fate of one of the duelists--this one moves at breakneck speed thanks to it containing two insane card duels. This is definitely a good installment.

Bradley says

An excellent volume as usual. I love this manga. =)

This was one of my favorites in the Yu-Gi-Oh! Duelist mangas. I loved the duel between Pandora *cough*Arcana*cough* and Yugi in the anime, so I was excited to read about it in this and I was not disappointed! If anything, it's better in the manga, as most things are. The best thing about it was that Yami isn't such a push-over and a pansy. He's a freakin' beast.

The duel between Jonouchi and Insector... eh. Most of Jonouchi's duels are boring, so I can't say it was surprising.

[Marik introduces himself to Yugi because previously he had only met Yami, who had not told Yugi about their encounter. Marik is very scornful of Yugi, commenting that he is only a vessel that is holding Yami's soul. (hide spoiler)]

Yugi is a young duelist who was walking around the areas of buildings, and suddenly a joker who is also a magician had his attention and wanted to challenge him to a duel to see who is the best duelist among magicians. As they went inside a private room where they can duel, Pandora locked both him and yugi's legs. And the deal of the game was that each duelist has two thousand four-hundred points. And the duelist that reaches zero will have their legs cut and the winner will get to escape. This was a risky move from Pandora but he is willing to try this. Both of these guys were great duelist but yugi had no worries that he wouldn't win this duel.

As the match begins to start yugi begins first and takes out his first card; which is magnetic warrior. One of his favorite battling cards. Then Pandora takes out a card and summons magic card. yugi summons a trap card and waits for Pandora to make a turn that way he may use his trap card to destroy whatever monster Pandora may take. Pandora fell for his trap and his monster was destroyed and Pandora's life points was half taken. Coming to the end of the Battle Pandora is magician and he was able to see what yugi may have on his deck, He also knows yugi has a dark magician in his deck and is willing to summon him first before yugi can which can help him win the battle.

But in order for Pandora to summon him He must summon to monsters from his deck and will have to wait for yugi next turn. By then if yugi summons a monster or lays a trap card, Pandora can sacrifice his two monsters that way he can summon Dark magician and win the game. In his mind he believes he will win but yugi always has a back up plan. Since Pandora is a magician and has a dark magician card. Everything he does with that card, yugi can do the same which throws Pandora off. Instead of having one magician in his deck he has two!!!. Dark magician girl which Pandora did not know of. Yugi had took this advantage And used his turn to attack Pandora With Dark magician girl. With this hit Pandora lost all of his life points and caused yugi to win the battle.

Yugi is free from chains while Pandora stays and gets destroyed.

Chelsea Gouin says

This is a pretty iconic duel that I remember from the anime...it's Dark Magician vs. Dark Magician as Yugi faces Marik's Ghoul, Pandora. However, this magician isn't playing fair as he locks Yugi's legs and threatens to saw him in half if he loses. Plenty of dark tricks ahead in this one, it didn't feel as kid-friendly as it's cartoon counter-part. The end of the duel too, has Marik planting suicidal tendencies in Pandora's mind and Yugi being all "meh" about it. Marik also confronts Yugi and let's him know he's merely a "host" to the Spirit of the Puzzle. At this point in the game, Yugi realizes why his "other self" is battling but is totally on board in helping him retrieve the lost memories. It was touching. On the other side of the city begins a duel between Insect Haga and Jonouchi begin a duel of their own, however Haga isn't playing fair. He's planted a virus card in Jonouchi's deck that he must defeat. He admits to Anzu and Gramps that his sister is afraid to remove her bandages in order to see and that is his new drive, to show her true courage. Honda and Ryuji have gone to retrieve her.

An action-filled volume that varies drastically from the anime that keeps readers and fans intrigued.
