As of 9-27-16 this book has been revised, re-edited, and re-released for your reading pleasure.

Novak:

We are born Bratva--We die Bratva!

You've met my cousin Glazov. Now please allow me to introduce myself. My name is Novak.

I like to think of myself as a business man with an edge.

Not just any woman has the capability to snag my attention, it takes a certain something if you will. Women like Katrina are few and far between. I have no intention of letting Katrina get away from me. Then there's also that nasty little issue of the flash drive. I will be keeping Katrina on a very short leash...

To say that I am a dangerous man would be an understatement; let's just say that Katrina crossed the wrong man when she stole that flash drive. If forced marriage is the only way to keep her from testifying against me; well then, So.Be.It.

Katrina:

I was doing great. Riding high on the success of my bestseller. Until the Mobster I stole from found out.

Giving that flash drive back would be admitting I had stolen it and used it to write my story.

It meant admitting my novel which had now become a worldwide, phenomenal best seller; was nothing more than a hoax. This created a grave problem, it meant losing a lot of money and worse than that, it meant my reputation as a writer would be ruined.

I had no choice, I would have to try and charm this snake, somehow, some way; into not ruining all that I had worked for. But forced marriage?!? He couldn't be serious, or could he?

Wow.....Novak....what to say about Mr Mathias Novak.....he has me at an emotional crossroads of whether I like or hate him. Not even sure I know at this moment. He is far beyond the dominating Alpha I have ever read about. I think there is a "softer" side to him and maybe I was hoping for a just a tiny bit of cuddle to come out for Katrina.

Katrina....the girl never stood a chance in the ring with Novak. She is a strong, independent, beautiful woman but the Novak grip is unbreakable no matter what emotional barrier she tries to build. Novak stirs a dark side of Katrina she never knew existed.

"I am now a lustful creature who craves being brutalized and used."

Together, their emotional dysfunction works.....in a very....VERY bad way. I wanted to cringe so many times when they were together but I couldn't help but want MORE!!!

"We are poison to one another, a dangerous brew of lust that threatens to combust, obliterating us and anybody that lies in our paths."

I need more of their tortured life together!

Audra says

Way too short, but extremely good!

Going by the cover alone I would never normally have read this book but after being introduced to Novak in 'Grazov's legacy' I just couldn't stay away.

I have to be totally honest and say I didn't enjoy this book as much as I'd expected, I think I made a mistake in reading 'Glazov' 'Glazov's Legacy' and "Novak" in just two days because 'Novak' is so similar to 'Glazov' it's more or less the same book just with different characters. Also I said in my review of 'Glazov' that I didn't really buy the way him and Kathleen met but it was a means to an end and the story was about them, I'm struggling to apply that to this situation because I just can't wrap my head around the fact that a high ranking member of the Bratva would firstly keep a diary and secondly would just leave it and then be without it for six months, this is not your 'I got up and had toast for breakfast' kind of diary it has descriptions of his ties to the criminal underworld. While I know this is fiction and their relationship is the backbone of the book it still has to be at least partly believable and this wasn't for me.

As with the previous two books the editing was really good, this is something which gets overlooked unless it's bad and then I complain but after reading my third perfectly edited book I thought it was only fair to give it a mention.

What the hell did I just read?

The story starts off with Katrina our heroine getting manhandled at a park by some dangerous guy. The dangerous guy is Novak aka Carl Sims, he has come to collect.

Katrina stole his diary that included all his sadistic sex history as well as his connection to the Russian mob, and Katrina wrote a book using his Diary. She made a shit ton of money and the best sellers list.

My first question was, what effing mob do you know that will request the diary? The russians don't mess around she would have been killed already!

So, that was a sad attempt on Russians with this story.

So, this is how the story goes:

Novak: Give me my diary you lying, thieving bitch!

Katrina: I don't have it.

Novak: I will make you my sex slave.

Katrina: no you won't.

Novak: Call me sir

Katrina: Sir

Novak: I am never letting Katrina go

Katrina: Novak is in my heart, an my body..

Then she goes into hiding.. guess where she hid? In her apartment! LMAO! Seriously? Un-fucking-believable!!!!!!

Novak: We're getting married.

Katrina: No

Novak: yes, that way you can't testify!

Katrina: Fine but I won't move in!

Then Novak mentions something about they got tested, however he didn't use a rubber since day one. And this whole story happened in like 3 days so when did you get tested?

Recommended? NO

Mamacita wants a Bedtime Story says

Novak, you were good. Maybe great but Glazov oh my Glazov. You were no Glazov. I should've read you first. Once you go Glazov you don't do their cousins. I loved the way you could turn Katrina's panties and wring them out but I wanted you to admit at least a little sumthin of ur feelings. I don't know if why we didn't bond my love. You were quick and a great quicky you were but you were a one and done and No you cannot have seconds and def not make all time faves list. Now girls please don't get me wrong Ms. Steele is still the bomb and I will read ANY book from her. If I read this review I would still read the book. Just remember Glazov... and then you'll know why we do do cousins (cause I'm a dirty little bird)

Jennifer Finn says

Suzanne Steele is such an amazingly talented author, her stories are always original, creative and so very entertaining. Mathias Novak is Alexander Glazov's cousin and this book is before he moved to Kentucky. Novak is living in Los Angeles and has changed his name to Carl Sims to sound more American but he's just as dangerous as he was in Russia. Katrina is a local reporter who found Novak's personal diary and turned it into a bestselling novel, not realizing who he was. He found out and now he's pissed off and if she were a man she'd already be dead. But he's extremely attracted to her so he blackmails her into becoming his own personal fk toy.

Karolyne says

Loved it.

Amy says

I love this book. The author writes about take charge males who r very dominant but in a way no one else is writing. I recommend all her books.

Katrin says

“Whether you like it or not, Katrina, you’re mine. You don’t have a fucking choice. Of course, there is always jail time or a body bag. I can always sue you and ruin your reputation as an author and a reporter. Your good reputation is nothing but a false façade of innocence”

Eve Recinella (Between The Bookends) says

No, just NO..this dude is worse then Glazov. I love a good over the top alpha, but this was a crazy abusive asshole alpha. I didn't feel an ounce of love between these two...le sigh.

Also, this book made NO SENSE! First of all the heroine was WAY to stupid to live. She hides out from Novak...wait for it...in her apartment!! Ya, no way that crazy ass Russian mob guy is gonna find you there!!

Second of all, what the hell is with the diary?! First rule of criminal school is DON'T leave a written record of said criminal activity!! Second, if for some asinine reason you decide to break rule number one, take better care not to leave said record behind somewhere!

Then he threatens to ruin her career because she stole his diary and wrote a FICTIONAL book based on it! She wasn't trying to pass it off a real, so how exactly was he going to ruin her career? Let us not forget he is a RUSSIAN MOBSTER, I am pretty sure he isn't going to call the cops about a stolen diary...save me from books that make no sense!!
