Going home after five years is difficult. It's harder still if you've changed species in the interim.

Kita Nekai, once the smallest shifter in Firth but now the newest vampire in the city of Haven, has no intention of returning home or informing her father and clan what she's become. Not that she has a choice. When the mage who holds her death certificate in his hands demands Kita return to Firth as his errand runner, she has to comply. Of course, there is no leaving her sire, Nathaniel, behind. Which means introducing daddy dearest to the man—well, vampire—she may be falling for and confessing that she's lost the ability to shift. Talk about awkward.

Her homecoming goes from bad to worse when an attempt is made on her life, and Kita finds herself facing an unknown threat in a hostile world she never fit into in the first place. Can she survive long enough to complete the judge's task, stand trial before the elders for the rogues she created while on the run, and help defend her father's territory from an encroaching band of misfit shifters? Or is this cat down to her last life?

I got this from her site, thought I would post it. I am sad that it will take so long ,but, I have the feeling there is a lot of "politics" involved with the release of a new book when the same author has another series that is doing well. Can't steal the thunder from one series by releasing another.

Keep doing what your doing Kalayna!! You do it well. I look forward to seeing more from you.

Cheers

"When will book three in the Novels of Haven, Third Blood, be released?

THRID BLOOD's release was pushed back. Tentive release is now set for Fall 2011. Be on the look out for more information soon!"

Ty Nyrin says

Book 2 came out in 2010 (I was in the 5th grade and 11 years old)

Book 3 has now been listed as to be Possibly released in 2018. Right now I'm almost 19 years old, and I have a feeling I'll be legally drinking by the time this book comes out.

It's surreal. In the time I've been waiting for this book, I've had my first kiss, I had my first period, I kiss a girl for the first time, i had my first boyfriend & girlfriend, I was in my first ménage (3 way couple), I had my first pregnancy scare, I learned how to drive and I watched 3 of my friends get married and another 2 friends birth babies then look in on them through the nursery viewing window.

HURRY UP AND WRITE THIS BOOK!!!! THIS IS BEYOND FUCKING RIDICULOUS!!!

Giving up on this author, release dates for this book keep changing through the years.

I feel like I have been waiting forever for this book. Kalayna Price seems to have forgotten fans of the Haven Series. It looks as though she is only focused on the Grave Witch books. I'm truly disappointed.

Lynsey (A Bookish Life) says

Another update: According to the author's blog, both series (Alex Craft and Haven) are on hold due to personal reasons. No books scheduled until at least 2014.

August 2013: So, it's the next August. Where's the book?

August 2012: We have a cover! Whoot!

So, it's August. Where's the book?

Kaza says

Hayley G says

I'm starting to feel sad now, it's almost mid-August and there's no word on the release date. I think it's gonna get pushed back again, but I really hope I'm wrong :)

Update: Kalayna has written on her website that she's not happy with the writing right now, she didn't mention an actual release date for this book, I think November is only a place holder, so don't hold your breath guys :

Update: July 5th/13. -Does anyone know if August 2013 is the ACTUAL release date for this book, or is it a placeholder?

Shelley says

Jen (In the Closet With a Bibliophile) says

I guess we finally have a cover. Now I wonder when it actually comes out? Kalayna says it should be out this August, but I don't think the 1st is the release date because I can't find it anywhere. :(
