Craving Melissa Schroeder

When this marine falls in love his mission is clear: Command and Conquer.

Jonah Berg is a man who believes in only the tangible. The Marine definitely doesn't want a woman who believes in fate and in things that can't be proven. Still, he can't keep his mind or his hands off Fiona Farelli. It doesn't help that the woman is sweetly submissive, or that she fills his needs on so many levels.

Fiona knows that she might be making a mistake with Jonah. The man's nickname is Diablo for goodness' sake. But she feels a pull to him like no other man before him. And when he takes her to bed, she finds herself completely and utterly enthralled.

Soon though, their relationship goes from sensual bed games to falling in love. Fiona needs to decide if he wants to risk her heart, or walk away from the one man who is her soul mate.
