All bets are off when it comes to murder ... Take a Chance Tours is on the road again - this time to the casinos and mouth-watering buffets of Biloxi, Mississippi. Betty Chance hosts the tour, along with perky effervescent bus driver and ex-con, Tillie McFinn. Riding along are the original fan club members for Bradford and the Beekeepers, a popular rock and roll group of the 50s and 60s. The chance to see their idol perform live once again in concert is priceless to Bradford's ardent followers. Only problem is, the itinerary includes a bit of kidnapping, murder, and alligators. Betty puts her amateur sleuth ability to work and, with the help of Tillie and her niece Lori, they search for the killer. Killed BY Chance is the second novel in Pat Dennis' Betty Chance Mystery series.

Julie says

What could be more fun than a casino, wacky characters and a mystery to solve? This is the first book I have read by this author and I will read more. It kept me engaged, had me laughing and smiling for most of the book and I love the scenario of a tour company being the backdrop for the mystery. I want to tour with this company.

First book I've read by Pat Dennis. The tale of tour operator owner, Betty Chance, and her bus driver pal, Tillie Mc Finn, leads you on one heck of a ride when they arrive at a casino in Biloxi, Mississippi with their tour passengers. Some passengers are there to gamble, others to see their favorite singer Bradford. But there's one person who has come to dig up the past. When Betty discovers a dead body in a laundry cart on the elevator she hopped on not too long after arriving at her hotel, she begins to question which person on the tour might be the bad apple in the bunch.
