Picks: Some Things I Dug Up Rocci Doria

One of the newest voices in horror takes you to a dark, disturbing place:

The Supper

An atheist finds himself in a foxhole on the front lines of a terrifying and bloody war, or, as his girlfriend's family calls it, Sunday dinner.

The Painted Lady

Security keeps a man in a raincoat from destroying a priceless (and haunted) painting of a long-dead Spanish Lady, and she makes certain that no good day's work goes unpunished.

Simon Says

A maritime ghost haunts an unlikely spot, but he just wants to play a little game with people he meets. Alone. At night.

Bonus!

Addie: A Hate Story

Imagine meeting someone you don't like. Now imagine they won't leave you alone, even at work. Now imagine your work isn't strictly legal, but hey, your stalker isn't strictly... natural. When boy meets girl and sparks fly, things could burn.

Fast, brooding and shrewd, these tales are good fun for dark, stormy nights and marshmallow roasts alike. Bring a blanket and tuck in the kiddies... somewhere they can't hear you scream.

Jasmine says

I received this book as the prize in one of the giveaways.

I didn't really know what to expect, but once I got into the first of four stories, I loved it. Even though sometimes it got a bit confusing.

Valerie says

I won this book in a Goodreads giveaway. I really enjoyed the first of the four stories as it was realistic and truly terrifying. The other 3 stories with "supernatural" subject matters were not quite as enjoyable for me as I am not a fan of that type of fiction. I did truly enjoy the author's writing style however.

Brittany says

I won this book for free from the Goodread's First Reads giveaway.

This book consists of four short spooky stories. I would give an overall rating of 3.5/5. They were a little confusing at times but still definitely held my interest. I would be interested in reading more by this author.

DC Jarreau says

This was a hard book for me to fully enjoy.

Linda Johnson says

I won this book from The Good Reads First Reads Program.

This book consists of 4 short horror stories and was a very quick and fun read. These are the kind of spooky stories that you would imagine telling while at summer camp sitting around a fire roasting marshmallows. I would definitely be interested in reading a full length horror novel by this author or more short stories such as these. This book was so short that it was just a tease.
