Halfway to Half Way Suzann Ledbetter

Hannah Garvey, the resident manager of Valhalla Springs, an exclusive retirement community, thought she had this love thing all sewn up. She's engaged to David Hendrickson, the hunky Kinderhook County sheriff, and thinks the future looks pretty rosy--until one of Sanity, Missouri's most esteemed citizens becomes the county's latest homicide victim. Meanwhile, Delbert Bisbee and his gang of senior gumshoes are driving Hannah nuts, doling out advice, delving into an old missing-persons case and digging dirt where they don't belong. Literally. And no matter what they unearth, there's just no halfway about it...life has a funny way of happening when you're making other plans.

Jessica says

I loved this series. Sad it had to end.

Susan says

David and Hannah are more than ready to get married, but can't figure out such basic problems as where they'll live afterward. And if David doesn't win his race for the sheriff's office he currently occupies, he may have to leave the county. If that isn't enough to worry about, the widow of the former sheriff is brutally murdered, and her daughter is one of the leading suspects. The one relief, to Hannah, is that the group of elderly people who live in the retirement village she runs seem to be concentrating on a cold case--the decades-ago disappearance of a local man--rather than the current murder.

Joanna says

I just love this comical cozy mystery series. A lively retirement community and their new resident manager Hannah solve crimes in zany and adorable fashion.

Ayny says

last in the series, although with the exception of the f-bombs it would be considered a cozy mystery.

Lynn says

I love this whole series. It reminds me a little of the Stephanie Plum books in that the characters are fun and quirky.
