Gabby: a Mythical Journey Alan Stephenson

This is the story of Gabriella O'Toole, a strong willed gypsy girl from the West of Ireland. Growing up on the family campsites throughout the country she has always been warned of dark shadows sweeping in from Eastern Europe. And so, on the eve of her 16th birthday, the rumours became a reality. The campsite was attacked and her family destroyed. During her escape she develops extraordinary powers, both mental and physical, that enable her to reach a magical Atlantic island, upon which, she would plot her revenge.

Gabby, with her love of nature survives many attempts on her life as she travels to a magical 'safe haven' on an island off the Atlantic coast. She meets a cast of colourful characters, both animal and human on her journey to safety.

"The book features more than just excellent pacing; Gabby shows extraordinary, inspiring courage as she comes to terms with being suddenly alone in the world." - Gerrit Nuckton, Connemara Journal

A great read, very entertaining and I can't wait for sequel.

I found it even more enjoyable since I've actually been to someone of the places in the west of Ireland mentioned in the book!

GOODREADS GIVEAWAY:

Honestly when I meet a book in a store of which the backcover says something of a girl growing titanium-edged wing I think I would just place it back but the frontcover would have persuaded me to buy it anyway because it's just so beautyfull. And I know: you shouldn't judge a book by its cover but in this case the front is correct. I loved this story of a young gypsy girl running for her life. It was fast-paced and I'm sure that if I didn't have to study I would have finished it in one sitting. Unfortunately I do have to study right now so I finished in 4 days. And even the animal-lover in me was satisfied. Yes I am really looking forward to reading the other adventures of Gabby.
