NO ONE KNOWS CRIME LIKE KRAY

I don't mind a challenge, especially when the odds are stacked in my favour. My last guest was a snivelling wretch, always crying, always pleading, as if any of that nonsense was going to make a damn bit of difference. Ava Gold is going to make up for all the disappointments of my life, all the tedious days and tiresome nights. If she behaves, I'll treat her well - I'm not in the business of making people suffer unnecessarily - but I won't be disobeyed . . .

Ava wants to believe Chris is innocent of the crime he's accused of but the more digging she does, the worse it looks for him. And there's still the issue of Holly and what Ava's been hiding from the police to sort out. Ava doesn't think things can get any worse but she has no idea how wrong she is, because the man who's been watching her has decided the time for watching is over. He's ready to act . . .

Pia says

5*

Slow starter but pulled it out the bag halfway through. Another excellent read. Can't wait for the next book ?

John Roberts says

Another brilliant book by Roberta. Although a short read i highly recommend to all crime fiction fans. It would help if you've read previous Kray books as you'll be more familiar with the area and characters.
