I like the story at the beginning. We have Aidan as the main character, a mere son of farmer and become one after his father died. He has always dreamed to be a knight of Delmar, an anti-dragon country. He has a good potential skill, characters and kind hearted. His dream comes true, until one day he saved the baby dragon then he was exiled.

I like the premise for this story, the idea of dragon, magician and time travel. Just at the middle of the book I feel lost. The things happened to Aidan and how strange the world of Delmar to be. But overall it was just fun and has a good ending.
