“Siren’s Song”, the twin novella to “Dragon’s Claw”, is not going to be out on Dec. 1 as I’d hoped. I have about half of it done, but had to put it aside to finish up the ninth Cassie book, Brave the Tempest. BTT is going well and will be turned in this month, but that means I won’t be starting SS again until probably around the time it was due out. I’m sorry about this, but Brave the Tempest is a great book and it deserved the time to be all it can be. This is to let you know that I will be finishing up SS just as soon as I turn in BTT, so I am still hoping to have it out in December. But it’s not going to be on the 1st of the month, and I wanted to let you know ahead of time. Thanks for your patience—I promise that it will be worth it! (Nov 15 20180

Pritkin was going to be an alternate POV in "Dragon's Claw", but his story just grew and grew and do it justice his POV became a separate novella, Siren's Song.

He and Dory do cross paths, but they're working on separate parts of a big problem, so most of his stuff you won't have seen before.
