The Survivor Rhonda Nelson

Treasure hunter Bess Cantrell is used to picking through junk, looking for elusive gems that she can sell. Undiscovered antiques, rare finds...it's her world. But then her shop is ransacked. Someone is looking for the "Wicked" Bible—a rare and valuable edition—and they'll do anything to get it!

Former Ranger Lex Sanborn is trying to pull his life together after almost losing it in battle. But being assigned to watch over the quirky and irresistible Bess is distracting him from thinking about his military past—by getting him out of his pants!

Because when Bess wants something, she knows exactly how to get it....

Delacey says

Liked the banter between the H&h, liked the H&h and liked the humour in the book. A very good Harlequin book. I expect to read this again.

Vicky Lynn says

Mmmmm Lex Sanborn is one hot sexy man!!!!

Ginny says

3.7

Bernie says

The Survivor is the ninth romantic suspense book in the Men Out of Uniform series written by author Rhonda Nelson.

Cathy Beckett says

This book was actually a 3.5 rating. I wish Goodreads would change their rating system.

I enjoyed Lex Sanborn and Bess Cantrell. Lex is a former Ranger discharged from the military after being injured in battle. Bess is a woman running from a future by living in the past. She is an antiques dealer.

They both have scars but they both need each other. I would recommend this read.

Biba says

I enjoyed the dynamics of the two main characters.

Sally says

This one was nice and another Ranger Security book with Lex who recently took medical retirement going on his first case, where the client Bess is trying to track down someone harassing her clients.

Bess was a very self-sufficient heroine and Lex was a good hero. The book wasn't anything original but like other Nelson books in this series, it was a fast read.
