I won the book as part of the Giveaway in Goodreads, and below is my honest review.

To start with, I loved the cover page of the book. The drawing of Em and Petal with a snail inbetween and Ben looping in from behind the tree is too adorable. Its a lovely children's book. Great lessons for kids. Loved reading ?

Sweet and funny! I loved the young children with big personalities taking on assignments to love their neighbors and the lessons they learned along the way. I enjoyed how the teachers, neighbors, and parents guided the children and let them learn the lessons for themselves. The angel garden idea was precious and any child will be able to follow the guidelines to make and share their own. The activities at the end could easily turn into a lesson plan or a parent child exploration. A good read.
