The artwork here is absolutely incredible.

Sacha Valero says

Entry #2 finds Xesh's force saber in the hands of the forge master on Tython. Nothing can damage the metal and they can't make the thing work until Lok's old friend Hawk shows up and ignites it. It needs anger and he's in balance.

Trill arrives at the place where Xesh and his Rakkatan Predor were last on sensors. We get a little of her history, how she and Xesh grew up together, making a blood bond. A bond that Xesh broke and she's angry, reaches out and finds where he is.

Bogan and Xesh arrive in an unexpected manner on Krev Coeur to scour for crystals. The others figure out that Bogan and Xesh have escaped and figured out where they've gone and are likely to go.

Another solid entry.

Allyson (Belle) says

The second issue of The Prisoner of Bogan series finds our protagonists attempting to discover the mystery behind Xesh's "Forcesaber" and the power it holds. Xesh's former masters, the Rakata, have sent their Force hound, Trill, to find Xesh. Meanwhile, Xesh's absence was finally noticed on Bogan, and two teams of Je'daii have been sent to uncover where he has gone. I'm really enjoying this storyline so far; I like that so many of the characters that were set up in the first volume (Force Storm) are interacting together now.
